

DEFENCE RESERVES TO PARTICIPATE IN THE AFRICA AEROSPACE AND DEFENCE EXHIBITION

The South African Air Force (SAAF) will be hosting the Africa Aerospace and Defence Exhibition (AAD) at the Air Force Base Waterkloof over the period 19 to 23 September 2012.

The exhibition is scheduled for 3 trade days, 19 to 21 September 2012 and 2 public days, 22 and 23 September 2012.

The trade days will be patronized by invited foreign and local trade and industry delegations that constitute the main thrust of the exhibition, primarily national trade and defence related objectives.

The objectives of the public days include the promotion of the Department of Defence through the National Defence Force and its alliances, showcasing the National Defence Force, promoting the MSDS awareness programme and the AAD youth programme and making visible the support that the National Defence Force enjoys from various South African industries.

The Chief of Defence Reserves will utilise the AAD 2012 as a platform to promote the concept of the Reserve System, brief the Defence Provincial Liaison Councils and Captains of Industry regarding the development of and other strategic issues regarding the SANDF Reserves.
